JOIN OUR MOVEMENT

We are an inclusive network of change makers from across public services and communities, who share a belief that co-production and citizens involvement can transform lives. Together, we can inspire, empower and support one another to make it happen.

Individual membership is free forever: anyone with an interest can join without limitations of cost or permissions.

Our team membership takes it further: Your investment sustains this vibrant community and unlocks dedicated support for your co-production champions – whether they're staff, volunteers, trustees, service users, or close partners. We help them sharpen their practice, spread co-production across your teams, amplify your impact, and achieve your strategic involvement goals.

Individual members enjoy:	Team membership gets all of this, plus:
• Networking with fellow practitioners and learning from shared experiences • Access to resources, briefings, training sessions and themed webinars • Being part of a movement with collective voice to influencing policy and decision making	• Welcome pack with a co-production resources toolkit • Annual co-production check-in where we explore your co-production goals, ambitions, and what you need to grow • Monthly Co-production Champions training that gives your team the confidence, tools, and skills to champion co-production across your organisation • Early and discounted access to our events – think early bird booking and exclusive discounts on our National Co-production Conference, e-learning courses, and special events • Quarterly "Ask an Expert" sessions – a safe space to troubleshoot challenges, share experiences, and explore fresh approaches to those tricky problems we all face • Digital badges for your website and email signatures that showcase your organisation's genuine commitment to co-production and involvement • Be a formally recognised member of the Network with voting rights at our AGM.

Who can join?

Teams, departments, or whole organisations from statutory, non-profit, or academic sectors. You don't need to be Wales-based to benefit – though if you're outside Wales, you'll get the most value if your organisation has an established co-production commitment.

How it works?

Choose how many champions you want to nominate. They'll advocate for co-production and support colleagues across your organisation. Your membership investment is based on the number of champions you choose.
